How do I vote at a polling booth?

You have several convenient options to vote when you want to. These include voting on polling day or voting early at an early voting centre or applying to vote by post. The easiest way to vote on election day is at a polling booth near where you live.

If you have a mobility restriction or disability, or care for someone who does, you can check the accessibility details of polling booths at ecsa.sa.gov.au.

Before polling day, the Electoral Commission of South Australia will write to you with information about the nearest polling booth locations.

You will receive an EasyVote Card to bring with you when you vote. You can also find information about polling booths at ecsa.sa.gov.au.

 Polling booth opening hours: 8:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. on polling day.

1. When you visit a polling booth, you will be asked for your name, address and “Have you voted before in this election?”.

To make your identification easier and faster, you can bring your EasyVote Card or another document with your name and address.

2. Your name will be checked on the voter list and you will receive two ballot papers: one for the House of Assembly (green) and one for the Legislative Council (white).

3. Take the ballots to the voting area where you can fill out your vote in private.

Your vote is secret. But if you need help, ask one of the Election staff.

4. Once you’ve filled out your ballot papers, insert them into the ballot boxes.
